Our Products

Piping Essentials is an ambitious black owned business that is taking the industry by storm. We are a privately owned trading and distribution company. Our management has many years experience in the fields of retail and distributing. The basic function of the company is to source, market and distribute products from both the domestic and overseas markets. We are in the process of beginning to manufacture some of our products and hope to have our own branded products within the next few years.

We are well established with a highly professional sales, marketing, warehousing and distribution operation. Consequently we are able to deal with all the major contractors & independent operators. We are continuously sourcing products, which we feel have the potential to impact on the South African market. We have all the necessary experience, knowledge and capital to ensure the success of our clients.
